LIONS

A GROWING PRIDE

When a female lion, known as a lioness, is ready to have her babies, she will separate herself from her family, called a pride, and hide in a den. After she and her cubs have had time to get to know each other for a few days and the cubs are big enough, she will finally introduce her new babies to their family. All of the lionesses in a pride will help each other care for their babies.

Help the lion and her cub find their way back to the pride!
