We're bringing the ZOO TO YOU!

SOUTHERN BALD IBIS

FIRED UP DINNER

Unlike most ibis species that rely on wetlands to find their insect food, the Southern bald ibis relies on fire. This large bird, found in southern Africa, eats insects it finds in recently burned grasslands. Fire is an important part of many ecosystems. Natural fires promote new growth of plants, which provide food and shelter for many animals.

Lead the ibis through the maze to all four bugs!
